MarketsandMarkets
Gen-Next Probiotics and Microbiome Congress
February 6 - 7 2020
Sheraton San Diego Hotel & Marina, San Diego
Postshow Report 2020
MarketsandMarkets Gen-Next Probiotics and Microbiome Congress took place on 6th & 7th February 2020, San Diego, USA.

What are the essentials being missed out on? What is the real role of probiotics strains, prebiotics and symbiotic in influencing health? How do you standardize microbiome analysis?

The MarketsandMarkets Gen-Next Probiotics and Microbiome Congress took place with focus on the major breakthroughs of microbiome, probiotics and prebiotics research along with their applications pertaining to challenges like medicinal data interpretation, investment and regulatory hurdles faced by the practitioners. The 2-day event shared the latest industry trends, advancements and future growth and the intersection between emerging technology and discovery with the context of consumer interest. Experts detected the non-identified dysbiosis, to discover the potential areas under study for investments in Gut and Skin microbiome and its role as a diagnostic tool of pharmaceutical discovery.
